

ABSTRACT

An image forming system enabling a user to submit an image, scanned or otherwise, and replicate the image to result in an output image containing repeated
5 multiple copies of the original image on a single printing medium.